

Center for digital interpretation in museums -by museums for museums

MMEx is a non-profit membership organisation

We are made by museums for museums - most Danish museums are already members. We are your external internal digital interpretation experts. We are cheap to use, and once we work on a project, we keep going till it is delivered -just as if we were internal museum staff. We are made by you, for you!

MMEx delivers meaningful interpretation -from concept to final implementation

What do you really want to say? How do you make the best accessible user experience? Which technology is best to use? - and how do you make it all come together?

We provide non-biased 360 advice, including:

Consultancy and advice, digital project management, creative workshops, funding applications, interpretation plans, interaction design, accessibility compliance, concept design, budgets, schedules, prototyping, tender briefs, contract negotiations, contractor assessment, hardware design and infrastructure, user experience, testing, quality assurance, maintenance plans and much more...

MMEx is a non-biased resource of experts -both creative and technical

We do our best to save you sweat, tears and money, making the best possible experience, while keeping your operations costs low.

Membership fee (museums and cultural institutions):

Up to 25 full-time staff	€400/year
More than 25 full-time staff	€670/year
Commercial institutions	€2,700/year

Consultancy fee:

Members	€92/hour
Non-members	€212/hour

Multi-hour deal (approx. 10% discount):

10 hours	€840
50 hours	€4,280

We have a strong dedicated team of International industry experts:

Mie is a historian and former museum manager. She will assist you in the early development stages, and help you find out what you need to tell.

Ludvig has been a film maker, media researcher and interactive media team leader at major museums in UK. He will help you make the best experience.

Anders is hardware design expert and project manager with experience from France and UK. He will help you get the best possible technical solution.

Mette is our director. She has extensive management experience. If you have any questions or concerns, she will sort it out!

For more information about our service and how to become a member, please contact mette@mmex.dk